

Mark Levi

Coriolis forces in non-rotating frames and Gaussian curvature.

Abstract: I will describe some counterintuitive phenomena arising due to rapid rotation, and in particular an unexpected role of the Gaussian curvature in, among other settings, celestial mechanics where it turns out to play an interesting role in the dynamics of binaries. Joint work with Graham Cox and Oleg Kirillov.